A Poverty Simulation is a role-playing experience that allows you to learn more about the realities of living in poverty. Each participant is given an identity for the duration of the simulation. Participants will experience “one month” of poverty compressed into the simulation time.

This will be an eye-opener to the world of poverty. Participants and volunteers will gain insight into the chronic crisis that consumes many working low-income families.

Event Hosted by Ingham Substance Awareness and Prevention Coalition

A working lunch will be provided in which participants will have an opportunity for reflection and debriefing through facilitated dialogue, as well as learn about next steps in our community.
